ELIO'S LITTLE DISCOVERIES

Again: The Kite with Two Tails

다시 확인하는 이미 하나 있어의 근거

12세 · Day 022 · 함께 읽기 · 4장면

Mum laid a green kite on the garden table. A blue ribbon lay beside it, and Bori had brought a yellow one. Elio ran a paw along the smooth paper. “A kite for me,” he said. He was already imagining it in the sky.

Elio chose the blue ribbon, and Mum fastened it to the kite. He picked up a wooden reel and wound the loose string around it. Bori lifted her yellow ribbon. “Can it have this one too?” Elio looked at the blue tail. “It already has one.”

Bori lowered the yellow ribbon. She had chosen it because it looked like a little piece of sunshine. Mum held the kite steady. “Would another colour fit?” she asked. Elio looked from the green paper to Bori. There was plenty of room.

“A blue tail and a yellow tail,” said Elio. “You can choose one too.” Mum tied the yellow ribbon beside the blue one. Bori held the two tails together. They were different colours, but both belonged to the same kite.
